The militants attempted to rescue her, but they were repulsed by the police. Mrs. Senor Muhmbo locked himself in his office and refused to receive callers. His secretary said that he was not at home. She said she did not know where the Washington monument was. Later he said to the newspaper editor that he was not at home.

alongside, but were swept away each time.

"At 5:30 p. m. the saloon and chart house were burning. The deck, bridge and all before the funnel were blazing fiercely. Pumps and dynamo operators worked with the accumulator until 11 p. m. when the magazine on the bridge blew up, carrying the aerial away.

MAKE SMALL RAFTS

"Several boats by this time were being off the ship and induced passengers to jump and were rescued by boats. At 12 midnight the weather was overcast and squally. Operations were suspended, it being too dark for boats to see. The fire meanwhile worked through the woman's stateroom to the after end of the ship, but we kept knowledge of this from the passengers, who were quiet throughout the rest of the night.

"The chief engineer, the Marconi men, the seamen and myself spent the night making small rafts in case the fire burned through the deck before daylight.

"At 5:15 a. m. the first boat arrived. Weather and sea having moderated the boats were enabled to come alongside the ship which enabled passengers to embark quickly. All the staterooms around the ship sent boats. Now we were enabled to load three boats with passengers at once. The passengers left in a very orderly way and there was no panic, women breaking down and crying when help was alongside, and about 400 passengers were rescued.

THANKS RESCUERS

"Nothing at all has been heard of the two missing boats. Missing vessels were asked to keep a lookout for them.

"I wish to express my heartfelt thanks and gratitude to the captain and all aboard by also to the officers and crew who came to our assistance for their bravery and endurance in their endeavors to come alongside the ship; also to the passengers of the Kronland for their kindness to the rescued passengers, engineers, crew and myself in fitting us out and giving everything for us.

Following are the names of the steamers that came to our assistance:

"Carmania, Grosser Kurfurst, La Touraine, Arian, Narragansett, Seydlitz, Minneapolis, Devonian, Czar, Pappanauk; also one other steamer abandoned without wireless. The ship was abandoned in latitude 45.30 north, longitude 34.57 west.

DEATH LIST MAY SHRINK

It is possible that the total number of dead in the disaster may shrink slightly when all lists are balanced. Passenger Agent Fourman of the Transim line here said today that his figures showed that 571 persons sailed on the Volturino, including twenty-four cabin passengers and 540 steerage passengers and a crew of ninety-three.

His lists showed that 525 persons had been accounted for, leaving 131 on the missing list.

It was announced tonight that the North German Lloyd steamer Seydlitz, bearing forty-five survivors of the Volturino, would stop at Philadelphia Wednesday before proceeding to Baltimore.

The steamer Grosser Kurfurst, with 105 survivors on board, is due here tomorrow morning. The rescued passengers who carries will be allowed to land without the usual examination at Ellis Island. The Red Cross committee will take charge of them.

PASSENGER DISCOVERS FIRE

HAVRE, Oct. 14.—The first person on the French line, second of the rescue ships which figured in the Volturino disaster to reach port, arrived at Havre this morning. La Touraine had forty-two survivors on board.

On the forward deck of La Touraine when she arrived at the quay was a group of eight children, from 3 to 12 years old, who had been rescued from the Volturino and whose parents either had perished or were aboard other rescuing steamers.

Friedrich Badtke, a young steerage passenger, was the first person on board the Volturino to discover the fire. "I saw smoke coming through the cracks in the floor of my quarters forward," he said, "and I became sure that the hold below was afire. I ran as fast as I could to the deck in front of the bridge. The captain himself was there, and I yelled to him in German that the ship was on fire. He did not understand me. I called out again in Polish and then shouted in Yiddish, but still I was unable to make him understand, and he sent down a sailor to inquire what was the matter."

"I led the sailor down to the steerage deck. When he saw the smoke he opened one of the hatches and was met by a rush of smoke and heat. The sailor then returned to the bridge and warned the captain."

"The chief engineer, the Marconi men, the seamen and myself spent the night making small rafts in case the fire burned through the deck before daylight."

ORIGIN IN DOUBT

The origin of the fire seems to be in doubt. Hans Magnus, a member of the Volturino's crew, said there were frequent violations of the steamship company's strict order prohibiting persons in the steerage to smoke.

"I feel sure," said Magnus, "that some steerage passenger, when an inspector was on duty, threw a cigarette down a hatchway. The fire broke out in a part of the hold where a lot of rugs and other stuff that would burn easily were piled."

Several of the survivors who were taken off by the Minneapolis agreed that the fire originated in an explosion of grease in a galley as a result of which several cooks and their assistants were killed. Later a number of the crew and several passengers lost their lives fighting the flames.

DEVONIAN IN PORT

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 14.—The Leyland line steamer Devonian, commanded by Captain Trant, arrived here today bringing fifty Volturino survivors.

On board the Devonian were many remnants of families crazed with grief and the tragedy through which they had passed.

CREW COWARDLY

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The crew of the Volturino, most of whom were Dutch, behaved in a cowardly manner and were not helpful to the passengers, is the verdict of most of the thirty survivors of the Volturino, who arrived at Gravesend on board the Minneapolis, this evening.

All the survivors are men, Russians, Hungarians and Poles. They are to proceed to the destination on board the Olympic tomorrow.

VIOLENCE SHOWN

PARIS, Oct. 14.—Many of the survivors of the Volturino showed signs of violence, according to passengers of the ship, when they arrived in Paris. One woman bore scratches and bruises all over her body which she received during the struggle to get places in the boats. A child arrived on board the Volturino completely naked. Most of the survivors had little clothing and what they had were torn.

VOLTURINO AFLOAT

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The Volturino was still afloat on the afternoon of Sunday in latitude 47.43 north, longitude 23.48 west. There is apparently possibility of the hull yet reaching land.

"The Campana was in her vicinity at a quarter past 2 on October 12," says a wireless dispatch to the Cunard Company. "The derelict was then going southeast, making about a knot an hour. Her hull appeared to be in good condition and likely to float indefinitely."

ATTACK VALIDITY OF 8 HOUR LAW

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—A suit attacking the validity of the eight-hour law for women was filed in the United States District Court here today by the trustees of a local hospital against John J. Ross and W. B. Boyd, members of the state bureau of labor statistics.

The law is declared in the complaint to be invalid because it violates the fourteenth amendment of the constitution of the United States. Since the law went into effect the hospital trustees have effected the hospital's expenses of their nurses' school has increased $1,100 a month.

COMPLAINT ISSUED IN $1,000,000 SUIT

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Counsel for Mrs. Katherine Keitcham Blake, who recently sued her husband, Dr. Joseph A. Blake, a prominent New York surgeon, for separation, obtained a Supreme Court order today permitting them to file a complaint and summons in Mrs. Blake's $1,000,000 suit against Dr. Blake's attorneys.

Mrs. Blake was served with papers in the suit some time ago, but it was not until today that the matter came to court. There had been talk that the suit would be dropped.

Aunt Sally's Advice to Beauty-Seekers

W. C. D. says: "My face is freckled the year round; nothing I try seems to help much. Is there anything that will really take off these horrid spots? Have you tried the famous 'Pink' cream?"

"I have used it for some time and I can recommend it to you. I've known this to remove every obstinate freckle. Ellen B. asks: 'What should I do for deep lines under my eyes and across my forehead?' Such lines, and all wrinkles, are best obliterated by bathing affected portions in a good astringent and tonic lotion, which strengthens and draws in the relaxed tissue. Here's a reliable formula: 1 oz. powdered azolette, 1-2 pt. witch hazel; mix and use daily until entirely relieved."

Minnie L. The undue redness as well as the pimples on my face have been removed by using ordinary mercuric wax. Apply nightly like cold cream and erase morning with warm water. Soon you'll have a beautifully white, clear, soft and velvety complexion. Mercuric wax, sold by all druggists, is better than any other remedy for any complexion trouble. One caution: Get it for most conditions.—Woman's World.

ROYAL COUPLE TO BE WEDDED TODAY

Prince Arthur of Connaught and Duchess of Fife
To Plight Troth

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Remarkable simplicity for a royal ceremonial will characterize the wedding of Prince Arthur of Connaught and the Duchess of Fife in the Chapel Royal of St. James Palace tomorrow.

Partly because of mourning for the late Duke of Devonshire, who was brought about by hardships suffered in being shipwrecked on the coast of Morocco, and partly because both the bride and groom are constitutionally adverse to display, it was decided to have the wedding a family affair.

The king will give away the bride, while the Princess Royal, mother of the bride, will also support her at the altar. The bridegroom's supporters will be his father, the Duke of Connaught, and the Prince of Wales.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, the highest dignitary of the Church of England, will conduct the marriage service, assisted by the Bishop of London and Canon Edgar Sheppard, who are dean and sub-dean of the Chapel Royal.

The bridesmaids will be Princess Mary, daughter of the King and Queen; Princess Maud, only sister of the bride; Princess Victoria and Princess Helen of Teck, daughters of the Duke and Duchess of Teck; and Princess Mary, the little daughter of Prince and Princess Alexander of Teck.

After the reception, the young couple will be escorted to their carriage by the King and Prince of Wales. An escort of the Scots Greys, Prince Arthur's regiment, will be drawn up outside the palace, and will escort the carriage to Portman Square. This is the only military display connected with the wedding. The couple leave later in the day for the honeymoon, and will motor from town, and their destination is a secret.

The trousseau of the bride will be British-made and of British materials as far as possible. The gifts include some very rare and valuable Irish lace, some of it family heirlooms. Much of the fine embroidery has been done in Scotland, and some of the gowns will be of silk from Spitalfields. The Duchess of Fife is devoted to sport, and a number of homespun gowns, coats and skirts are being made from materials woven by the peasants of her home district. Pearls have been her favorite gems, and the family gifts include some very valuable ones.

"BORN IN CAUCUS AND CRADLED IN POLITICS"

New York Banker Describes Currency Measure In This Fashion

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Declaring that the Owen-Glass currency bill, now before congress, was "born in a caucus and cradled in politics since its inception," a Boston Republican, chairman of the Chase National Bank of New York, attacked today the Wilson administration measure. Heppburn was one of the speakers at the national conference of currency reform, which opened here today under the auspices of the New York Academy of Political Science.

Senator Robert L. Owen, sponsor in the senate for the bill; Representative Glass, who led the fight for the bill in the House; and Representative Robert J. Buckley of Ohio, member of the House committee on banking and currency, defended the administration plan. Arthur Reynolds of Des Moines, president of the American Bankers' Association, and Heppburn spoke for the bankers opposed to the bill.

The debate involved the wisdom of compelling national banks to join in the proposed system, under penalty of losing their charters, and on the assertion that designation of the members of the federal reserve board by the President would open the way to political domination of the banking system.

"I am not especially fearful of political control," said Heppburn, "I am not even especially fearful of unconstitutional control. But inasmuch as this bill was born in a caucus and cradled in politics from its inception, the public in general may be pardoned from having some misgivings as to whether or not it may not have a part in its management."

Representative Buckley said the time had come when the bankers of the country must submit to government control, as the railroads had done. Representative Glass held that the reason for the opposition of bankers was the fear of an immediate loss of profits to many of them. Senator

DIFFERENCE BETWEEN SCHOOLS IS SLIGHT

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 14.—There is not much difference between the public school and the public school of the country," declared Bert E. Merriam, educational director of the New Jersey reformatory at Rahway, who addressed the American Prison Association today. Professor Merriam said they had all classes at the New Jersey institution but that they fitted the work to the classes, instead of making the classes fit the work, as is done in many of the public schools. A. C. Hill of the New York state department of education, told of the educational system in vogue in New York penal institutions. There the head teachers are civilians and the under teachers are convicts.

PRESIDENT WHEELER REGAINS HEALTH

BERKELEY, Cal., Oct. 11.—According to a cablegram received at the University of California today from President Benjamin Ide Wheeler, he has regained his health and will sail for Bremen for New York, December 12. President Wheeler has spent several months abroad recuperating from a breakdown said to have been caused by over-work.

Owen insisted that the banking system as a whole should be supervised directly by the government in the interest of all the people, instead of being in the hands of bankers for their own profits.

CANADA DETERMINED TO EXCLUDE ASIATICS

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Sir Richard Merriam, premier of British Columbia, has imposed on Sir Edward Grey, British secretary of state for foreign affairs, the task of reconciling Great Britain's pro-Japanese proclivities with British Columbia's determination to enforce its decision to exclude Asiatics from its territory.

The Japanese government has been insistently protesting against the attitude taken up in Canada, especially in view of the Japanese being debarred from cutting timber and exporting from the fisheries.

The object of Sir Richard Merriam's visit to London was to impress the foreign office with the fact that British Columbia's determination is irrevocable and to obtain the support of the imperial government for its action. He sails for America on board the Olympic from Southampton tomorrow, leaving Sir Edward Grey to find a way out of the difficulty, after giving him a firm intimation that this must be in accordance with Canadian view.

October 21st, 1913

This is the 34th anniversary of Edison's invention of the incandescent lamp. Now that the remarkable efficiency of the Edison Mazda Lamp brings electric lighting within reach of nearly every purse, Edison's dream of the universal availability of electric light has come true.

It is therefore fitting that we observe Edison Day by doing all in our power to further increase the already rapidly growing demand for electric light.

CURRENCY BILL

By a practically unanimous referendum vote the Chamber of Commerce of the United States has endorsed the currency bill now before Congress, though it suggests a number of radical, but not revolutionary changes and improvements in it. The United States Chamber of Commerce is a comparatively new body, and has not yet established itself so far as a leader of public opinion as it may subsequently do. But it is at the very least a nation-wide organization of men who are commercial leaders in their respective communities, and its referendum, when it is as decisive as in this case, is as near as anything could well come, to an impartial straw vote of the business opinion of the United States.

This opinion, it may be assumed, is absolutely unanimous that the present financial system of the United States is intolerably bad and that some bill to meet the purpose either of the original Aldrich bill, or of the present Glass bill, is imperatively needed. It is pleasant to know that so wide-spread and representative an opinion has also confirmed in general the bill now before Congress. It is obviously impossible to secure unanimous agreement in advance on the details of such a bill. In fact, it is excessively unlikely that such a bill in the form first passed will completely stand the test of experience. But if the bill is even approximately right, the main thing is to take the first practical step of passing it.

The talk stage will be indefinitely prolonged if it is allowed to remain mere talk. But when the first step of action has been taken the other steps follow more easily and practically. Sometimes they follow a long way after, but in recent years the delays have usually not been intolerable. It took almost a whole generation, for instance, to transform the interstate commerce law from a mildly useful to a completely efficient one. It took thirty years in California to transform our theoretically workable railroad commission law into a practically workable one. But when that practically workable law was once passed it took only two years to transform it into a huge scale into the most completely efficient railroad regulation system in America. The same experience is likely to follow in the case of currency legislation. We have been discussing the matter ever since Andrew Jackson abolished the Bank of the United States. We have been discussing it intensively, at least since the panic of 1897. These discussions have clarified the matter a little, and have brought opinion a few steps nearer to unanimity. But the long steps will only be taken after the first one is an accomplished fact. This currency bill, if it passes, as it now seems likely, will be the practical step. It is very important to make that step as near right as possible, but it is even more important to take it somehow and have it behind us. This much, apparently, the present extra session of Congress is going to do. For the rest, we must look to the future.

NO MORE RETICENCES

The ten commandments are becoming, each in its turn, the law of the hour. Only a little while ago it was the eighth commandment, and every other play, from "The Man of the Hour" to "Kob and Dill," dealt with graft. But the eighth commandment is too stale for the stage now; it is full three years old, and we have now discovered the seventh, which, being more interesting, may last longer. The last three plays, for instance, have dealt all with the same subject: the one classically, with an ancient courtesan, and the others realistically with modern prostitution. There were no reticences in any of them.

That, in fact, is the most striking feature of the new fad. There are no longer any reticences. Nothing is valued, in either dress or word. The only limit to modern dress is the point at which it is regarded as more savoring to suggest than to reveal. And speech, more modest than dress, has ceased even suggesting and revels in the naked truth. Nothing is unmentionable, these days, nor unprintable. A few years ago if one of these brother plays had managed to escape the police, no woman would have attended it, and no man would have confessed doing so. Now, most exemplary young couples attend quite as a matter of course, and do not think it necessary either to apologize or to braven it out. No question of morals is involved; the plays are moral enough. It is a mere question of reticence, and that has ceased to exist. You can discuss in mixed company now what you once locked the doors before discussing in separate company. You can print in the Ladies Home Journal now what once was locked in the reserved shelves of printed in a medical book. And you can tell tales to the Dorcas society now which you once scarcely dared repeat to the police commission. And all in the name of a more Puritan morality than has been preached since Jonathan Edwards died.

It is no use asking, "What are we coming to?" We have come. You can wear anything, you can say anything, you can do anything. The wearing may be ugly, the saying may be false, the doing may be wrong. If so, then for these faults they are condemned. But there is no reluctance to hide them, even then.

THE RACIAL FRONTIER

The Japanese situation in British Columbia is quite as acute as in California, and in some respects even more difficult to handle. Dispatches from London state that Sir Richard McBride, the premier of British Columbia, has left the responsibility of British imperial support to the British Columbia policy with Earl Grey, but has left the British foreign minister no choice which side he shall take. England is the ally and the friend of Japan, but British Columbia, in its internal administration, is even more independent of the imperial government than California is of the national government of the United States. Neither by constitutional limitation, court action, nor treaty, can the British imperial government set aside the action of the provincial government, and Sir Richard McBride has clearly informed the foreign office that the action of his province is irrevocable, and that it expects the support of the imperial government in it.

A situation very similar exists in the Australian provinces. Those too, are a part of the British Empire, but they enjoy absolute local autonomy, and they insist unconditionally on their right to treat immigrants from Japan and China on terms different from those granted to immigrants of the same quality from Europe. In other words, in the British colonies facing on the Orient, which are now populated by white people, the racial frontier is being maintained with the same stubbornness as in California, Washington and Oregon. Facing the brown men's world the white man's world has thrown a cordon of intolerant states, which insist on a policy contrary to that which the international idealists both before and behind that line desire. The manner in which these border states maintain this policy is not always commendable, and the motives are sometimes local, selfish and short-sighted. But the fundamental determination of these frontier states is precisely the most important thing in the history of the world in this age.

The old separations of distance and ignorance have broken down utterly. The whole world is now in contact and in communication. These first generations of the new era must determine for all future generations, whether the racial frontier shall be maintained, or whether there shall be racial interpenetration across the borders. The decision which the world makes on this question in this generation will determine for all the future what sort of a world this is to be, and what sort of generations shall occupy it.

It is extremely fortunate that this issue should be presented in its acutest and most uncompromisable form to England and Japan, precisely the nations which are allied in the closest bonds of international friendship. No two nations of the East and the West stand in such close relations as these two, and there are no two between which a peaceful and honorable and a mutually self-respecting solution is so absolutely imperative. It is unthinkable that England and Japan shall reach any agreement except one which preserves the rights and the sensibilities of both. Yet England is bound by its very imperial system to make this agreement on the irrevocable condition that the white race and the brown race shall not be mingled physically in the same territories. When England and Japan agree that this condition is compatible with other conditions existing between them, they will thereby have made the agreement on behalf of all the nations of the white man's world for all the nations of the brown men's world. What they must do in peace and honor the rest of us may also do in equal peace and without offense.

The State Railroad Commission unfortunately does not have jurisdiction of the telephone service in Fresno as it had in San Jose, and of course it is not absolutely certain that if it did have it would establish in Fresno the identical rules which it established in San Jose, though on account of the similar size and character of the two cities the difference could not have been great. But it is at least certain that it would have established the same conditions of service, and would have abolished the same abuses. Why not, therefore, take at least this portion of the commission's decision, and enact it as a regulatory ordinance in Fresno? The company would hardly accept a certain regulation in San Jose because it was ordered by state authority and then defy the same regulation in Fresno because it was ordered by city authority. If it did so, it would, of course, drive the city immediately to take the step which San Jose took. Either way we should get the result accomplished.

The discussion of the reversion which have held back interurban development in Fresno recalls some recommendations on the subject made in the annual report of the Fresno Traffic association as long ago as December, 1911. In that report Manager Hill said:

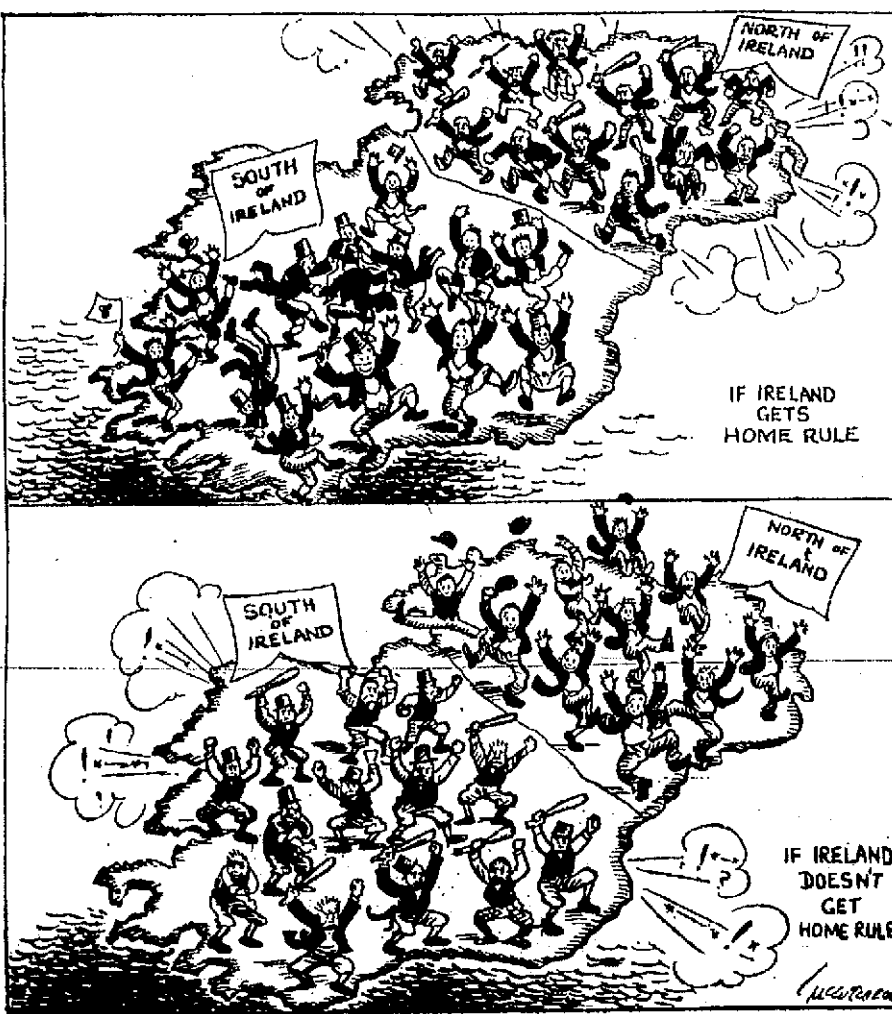

"In my opinion, the owning, operating or controlling, either directly or indirectly, of a water carrier or transportation company, should be prohibited by National and State legislation, and our association would do well to take steps looking to the bringing about of such a measure. I believe further, that for obvious reasons legislation that would prevent any steam rail carrier from owning, operating or controlling, in any city, electric or other street railway company or system, would prove wise and generally beneficial to cities and communities."

WAS BATHYANI SUICIDE OR MARTYR?

The little provinces of Hungary and Poland have supplied some excellent examples of the hero, and in the brave struggles that Hungary made to preserve her national independence, not one of her patriots is deserving of more credit than is Count Louis Batthyani, in spite of the fact that Hungarian history dwells long on the services rendered by Batthyani. It is uncertain as to how he came to his death. Most histories tell us that he was unjustly accused and was sentenced to death for high treason. It is noted that "he heard the verdict with calmness, and did not lose his hold upon himself, even in taking a last farewell of his wife." He was granted the privilege left to ask for—that he might have a soldier's death.

The hour set for his execution was five o'clock in the afternoon, and crowds were gathered to have a look at the man they all loved and honored. When the prison door was thrown open, the count walked calmly out, leaning on the arm of his chaplain. His face was perfectly serene and he carried himself with dignity and modesty.

Other historians do not make him a martyr, but instead claim that he took his own life. Taking the latter's view, the latest edition of the "Encyclopedia Britannica" says: "The legend of Batthyani was finally pronounced upon him at Osnabrück for violating the Pragmatic Sanction, overthrowing the constitution and aiding and abetting the rebellion. To escape this fate he stabbed himself with a small, concealed dagger, under the table, on the night of October 5, 1849."

Count Louis Batthyani belonged to one of the proudest old families of Hungary. The city of Buda was on one side of the Danube, and Pesth was on the other, connected by a high suspension bridge. The two cities are now practically one and are called Budapest.

Prince Louis was one of the patriot lords in the upper house of the Hungarian parliament and Ferdinand V of Austria, summoned him in March of 1848 to form the first independent and responsible cabinet under the new government. Austria had promised that Hungary should enjoy under her protection.

For years the Hungarians had suffered from the treachery of Austria, and Batthyani realized that no compromise could be placed upon Ferdinand. For months he struggled between the power of Austria and his people, and then went to Vienna to see if he could not move Ferdinand to keep faith with Hungary, and give them the liberties they asked, chief among which was the use of their own language for all official business, and in the schools.

But the Count could accomplish nothing, so he resigned his office and went home. He still held his seat in parliament, however, and worked without pause to find some way in which his country and people might have justice and liberty.

These were the days in which Louis Kossuth was working so desperately for the liberal cause, and all Hungary was alive with bitterness and revolt. Count Batthyani had no false pride when it came to pleading for his people, so he went to Prince Windischgrätz, who commanded a large body of the Austrian army, and begged for an interview.

Windischgrätz sent word to him that he did not treat with rebels, for so Austria chose to consider the Hungarian people. He added the statement that there was only one thing for Hungary to do—surrender its capital country.

Then Batthyani was arrested at Pesth, and a shameful trial was held by court that had no jurisdiction in Hungary. With so connected a story as is obtainable regarding this patriotic Hungarian, it seems regrettable that his death should be shrouded by such varied statements.

It is among new buildings, but none as grand or expensive as the structures which were left 1500 years ago by the Romans when they hurriedly packed up and left. The Roman housewife hangs out her modern wash where Roman emperors once dined on nightingales' tongues and where the Roman taxidermist struggled for his fare the Roman Coliseum where once 200,000 people yelled for blood, echoes back his sanguinary words.

Rome is the world's headquarters for sculptors, artists and architects. Mining for ancient statuary is one of the city's most profitable occupations, and almost daily the humble ditch digger swears as he stabs his spade on the massive brow of a marble statue which was greatly admired two thousand years ago.

Rome will have a million inhabitants again, some day, and they will be much better behaved than the original million, even if they do not produce so impressive a sky line.

For several centuries Rome was under the domination of everyone allowed that a mighty fine country was being spoiled by the ruins of a punk town. But gradually the city began to come back. The Chamber of Commerce secured the headquarters of the Christian religion, then a struggling institution, and Rome began to grow again. By 1500 A. D. Rome was running the world over corda inclosa, running the world once more, and it has continued to take a big hand in history ever since.

Rome now has 800,000 people, which is doing pretty well for a deceased town. It is situated on seven hills and the Tiber, which has never been improved for navigation purposes owing to the poor grade of Roman congressmen who have been elected. Rome is a bustling modern town situated in, around and on top of the old Rome, it

S. Beveridge, at their country home on Ventura avenue. The living room was prettily decorated with vases of golden-rod, and for an hour or so the guests busied themselves with needlework, before the serving of tea and accompanying dainties.

Among those included in the group were Mesdames Fidoaux & Turnbull, Frank Fidoaux, Donald Good, Misses Eleanor Webster, Dorothy Noble, Leora Schaeffer, Constance Beveridge, Marguerite Beveridge, Helen Rogers, Maria Edwards, Reno Dalton, Anne Turner, Thelma Spencer.

Musical Club Makes Winning Campaign for More Members

Josef Hoffman, the famous pianist, who comes to Fresno later in the season as one of the Musical Club attractions.

Through the efforts of the members of the Fresno Musical Club who have been instrumental in carrying on the present membership campaign, the list of members has been swelled considerably, and in response to requests, it has been decided to hold one more day of down town ticket sales, when the desirable bits of card board may be procured at either Bowman's Drug store, or Sherman and Clay's music store. In order to bring Mrs. Francis Alda and her trio of artists to Fresno as the initial attraction for the season, it is necessary that even more members be procured, and as the contract with her manager must be signed today, it is desired that all prospective club members communicate with some member of the club and hand in their names, so that it will be possible to tell exactly what funds the club will have to go on this winter. There will be no tickets sold for any single attraction excepting to out of town people, and the price asked is $2.

One of the later attractions which the board of managers has "lined up" is the appearance of Josef Hoffman, the eminent pianist. He is known as one of the few child prodigies who ever developed into an artist of rank, and it is his wonderful technique, his career commenced as a child of nine when he appeared in public. At the age of ten he toured the United States giving fifty-two concerts. He continued under the tutelage of Rubenstein until it is repeated, Rubenstein informed him that he could teach him no more.

SUED BY DAUGHTER, SON-IN-LAW, MINORS

Mrs. Erro, Formerly Mrs. Camy, Faces Great Mass of Litigation

Mrs. Marie Erro, who was the widow Camy before her marriage to Matias Erro, in May last, was made a principal defendant yesterday in three legal proceedings at the instance of her son-in-law, of her married daughter and other Camy children.

J. P. Sagoupe, the son-in-law, asks for judgment for a balance of $75,000 on a contract for "land" on a mutual account and current account on a farming enterprise in which they were mutually interested during her widowhood.

Mrs. Julia A. Sagoupe has for herself and four other brothers and sisters caused to be ordered to render an accounting of her guardianship and their interests in the property of their father Jean Camy, who died on February 17, 1905 and whose estate was distributed on June 11, 1905. Their mother was appointed guardian in October, 1903.

Sagoupe, who married in July, 1902, attended her majority two years later in October. The married daughter says their mother rendered no accounting within one year after her appointment nor has she done so since distribution of the estate. "Though often requested to furnish the accounting," it is charged that she has refused to comply, has in her possession money and property of her children in the estate valued at more than $10,000 and asserts that they have no interest whatever in their father's estate.

The third legal proceeding is by J. P. and Mrs. Julia Sagoupe against Matias Erro and Mrs. Marie Erro, formerly Camy, for a partition of lands in which the plaintiffs and Mrs. Camy became owners by purchase in March, 1911. The property involved includes the Pulton G. Berry estate, and 40 acres in lot 19 of Grangeville tract, the Sagoupe claiming two-thirds interest.

Other defendants in this action to determine title on the land and discharge them to partition the parcels in the proportionate shares of ownership are Matias Erro who claims an interest by reason of his marriage, Isabel Sprague, Eliza H. Ashie and Richard H. Wallace, claiming under the last mortgage. Emily J. Yost also holding a mortgage interest and the Commonwealth Bonding and Casualty Insurance Company holding the Sagoupe mortgage. Gallaher & Aton are the attorneys bringing the three proceedings.

DALE TO ORGANIZE TWO LABOR UNIONS

Harness Workers and Shoe Workers Will Meet Early Next Week

An attempt to organize the harness workers and the shoe workers of Fresno will be made next week by J. H. Dale, general organizer for the American Federation of Labor, according to Dale's statement yesterday. Dale will also assist the United Laborers' and Teamsters' union.

At the meeting of the executive board of the California State Federation of Labor in this city last Saturday, a decision to leave the American Federation of Labor for the next few weeks was reached. Dale was instructed to bend his efforts to further the interest of organized labor.

There are thirty harness workers in this city at present and the organization will be formed under a charter from the International Leather Workers' Union of America. No attempt has ever been made to organize the harness workers of Fresno, although a number have agreed to come into the union in case an organization is launched.

The majority of shoe workers have practically decided to become members of a union in case one is formed. At present fifty shoe workers are employed in Fresno. Union conditions and wages are extremely attractive to the shoe workers, although their present circumstances are improved over those of other unorganized crafts of Fresno. The charter will be taken out under the International Foot and Shoe Workers' union.

During his stay in Fresno last week, organizer Dale visited the shoe workers (took up the matter of a union. A number of the local shops were visited and practically all of the shoe men agreed to come into the

"Officer 666" Back On Barton Beat, Clubs Big Audience Into Laughing Convulsions

Half an hour of melodrama and an hour and a half of farce, well mixed and rapidly stirred—that is the recipe for making "Officer 666." After an absence of some months this farce paid a return visit to the Barton last night. A well-filled house showed that it had made a hit before, and it no doubt the gallery is any proof, it still had the "punch."

It would be next door to hopeless to narrate the plot. The first two acts promised a fair ending to one, but the last act abandoned any such logical notion and was nothing more than a loosely strung series of surprises.

An impossible millionaire, one Francis Gladwin, and his enthusiastic friend prevent a story-book villain from stealing Gladwin's money and eloping with Mrs. Helen Burton. Helen, however, determined to elope, so the ever-ready Gladwin, having saved his art works, satisfies the wish of the lady into the bargain. That is all there is to it, but apparently quite sufficient to make much clever and amusing comedy out of the work.

Dale will have the members of the two unions lined up and it is likely that a meeting will be held the first part of next week. The United Laborers of Fresno will also receive a share of Dale's attention during the two weeks he is in Fresno, as well as the Teamsters.

Efforts to introduce misplaced solemnity into what called for plain farce. The rather sentimental moments between the millionaire and the thief struck a false note. J. Francis Dillon, as Gladwin, and H. W. Pemberton, as the crook, were adequate. The most artistic touch in the play was the acting of David Manning, as the "Jap" servant.

Though slight, "Officer 666" provides a clean and amusing evening's entertainment.

LOCAL INTEREST IN BOOKS AT LIBRARY

New Shipment Includes Non-Fiction Attractive to Californians

"In the Footprints of the Padres," a descriptive tale of an interesting journey about the historic missions of California, by Charles Warren Stetson, is the latest addition to the book collection in a shipment of non-fiction. Reminiscent of scenes so familiar to many Californians this book should prove as popular at the library as the best-selling fiction. John Muir's latest work, the story of his boyhood and youth, is also included in this interesting list of books now being placed on the shelves. This noted California naturalist has many friends in this section of the country and his boyhood reminiscences will be well read.

Howe's critical study of J. M. Syngue, the dramatist, may find many readers as Syngue has been the subject of discussion of several Fresno literary clubs during the past year.

The entire list follows: "Barbaric" by Charles Warren Stetson, "The United States and Spain," Spanish-American War.

Goodrich—"The Coming Mexican," Hedrick—"Graves of New York," Howe—"J. M. Syngue, A Critical Study," Hutchinson—"How to Make Money Out of Them,"

Larisch—"Von Moenchlein—My Past," Lindsay—"History of the Reformation," Munn—"Royal Women,"

Martinez—"World's Money Problem," Marx—"The Story of My Boyhood and Youth,"

Paine—"Mark Twain, A Biography," Chas. Warren Stetson—"In the Footprints of the Padres,"

Valentine—"Beginner in Poetry," Velasco—"English—Spanish and Spanish Dictionary,"

Walton—"Mark Twain and the Happy Island," Wheelock—"Birds of California."

Mrs. Ryals comes from Callan, Minn., and comes to make her home with Mr. Simpson, who is her only living brother, and who came from near Bolivar, Mo., 26 years ago. There also arrived on the same train with Mrs. Ryals, Mr. W. Early and wife who came to make their home with their daughter, Mrs. Maude Russell near Clovis.

MRS. RANDERUP DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

After a short illness, Mrs. James Randerup of Kernan, died at her home Tuesday morning.

Death was due to a complication of pneumonia and typhoid fever.

She leaves behind her husband, four children under seven years of age, the youngest being a babe of two weeks. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Miller formerly lived at Wheatville.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon, the time to be announced later.

POLICE TABOO BIKE POLO ON STREETS

BLOOMER SHOW IS AROUSING CRITICISM

BERKELEY, Oct. 14.—There is a division in the ranks of the Berkeley Women's Council, of which Mrs. J. B. Hume, former president of the State Federation of Women's clubs, is president, because the gym class which the club started plans to give an exhibition Friday, to wear bloomers of knee length and to admit the men.

"It looks too much as if the women were displaying their physical forms for a price," declares Miss Blanche Moore, a leader in the council.

"It's all silly prudery," retorts Miss Violet Richardson, instructor of the class, formerly of the University of California faculty.

The women's council has voted not to permit its name to be used at the show. The gymnasium class announced today that it would go ahead with the show as planned and without the endorsement.

REALTY MEN OFF FOR CONVENTION

Fresno Dealers Slated for Committee Places; Election of Directors

The Fresno delegation of the Realty Exchange of this city to the annual convention of the California State Realty Federation which opens tomorrow at Del Monte will leave early this morning by automobile. It is expected that at least five members will make the trip.

W. G. Cochran will be the special representative of the local exchange and will carry the recommendation of the Fresno dealers for a place on the legislative committee of the State board.

N. E. Curran has also been recommended for position on the committee of colonization and immigration.

The other members who will make the trip are W. W. Stanforth, H. R. Simpson and Secretary Hubbard. J. A. Stebbins may make the trip.

The seven members of the board of directors to act for the ensuing year are W. J. Kittred, N. E. Curran, H. Jacobson, Herbert Levy, John A. New, W. W. Stanforth and F. D. Billings.

The Fresno dealers will return next Sunday. It is expected that some of them will go on to San Francisco and attend the Land Show which is now in session there, and will report for the Percola festival which opens a week from next Wednesday.

MAY SEND ALL FIVE RUNNERS TO PORTOLA

Expenses of Fifth Entry to Be Paid If All Are Able to Go

Should all the five young men selected for the Portola meet in the try-out Monday night at the Y. M. C. A. it is possible to go, Physical Director Toomey, of the association, announced that he will send the expenses of the fifth man are paid, though the Portola committee has arranged to pay for four entrants. All five have been entered but it is feared that Toomey may not be able to go owing to a tight match in Stockton.

Either a subscription will be raised to pay expenses of a fifth man, the Y. M. C. A. will send him, or Toomey will take the runner at his own expense.

Though crack athletes from all over the coast compete in San Francisco the 25th Fresno will be well represented and should capture several places in the individual events even if the relay is lost.

George Hopkins, who made the best form in the try-outs, has also Irving Toomey, been one of the mainstays of the Fresno high school athletic organization, and both young men are training faithfully.

H. C. Britton has been a consistent performer both for the New York Athletic Club and the Seattle Athletic Club, participating in numerous of the big New York and Northwestern meets.

W. L. Parker, a novice, is a natural runner, says Director Toomey, and should develop into a strong "mile" though shorter runs may be made in good time. Fred Haring is training consistently and is improving rapidly in condition.

VOTE TO ESTABLISH EPISCOPAL PROVINCES

House of Deputies Divides Country Into Eight Districts

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—One of the governing bodies—the house of deputies—of the Protestant Episcopal church of America, voted today at the triennial general convention of the church to group the dioceses into provinces or synods, eight in number, after the custom that prevail in the Episcopal church in England.

Protests against adopting the change were made on the floor of the convention. Three years ago a commission was appointed to consider if the church should have an affirmative report was submitted.

The house of bishops in executive session today declined to adopt two recommendations of a committee appointed 2 years ago to "consider the relation of the army and navy chaplains to the church." One recommendation suggested placing the army and navy in a separate diocese under a bishop and the other that the army and navy chaplains should be under the jurisdiction of a committee of three bishops, including the Bishop of Washington as chairman.

The proposed division of dioceses into provinces was as follows:

First province—Dioceses within the New England states.

Second province—States of New York and New Jersey and missionary district of Porto Rico.

Third province—States of Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the diocese of Washington.

Fourth province—Diocese and missionary districts within North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee and Kentucky.

Fifth province—Dioceses in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Sixth province—Diocese and missionary districts in Minnesota, Iowa, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Montana, Wyoming and Colorado.

Seventh province—Diocese and missionary districts in Missouri, Arkansas, Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Eighth province—Dioceses and missionary districts in Idaho, Utah, Washington, Oregon, Nevada, California, Arizona, Alaska, Hawaii and Philippine Islands.

MADISON MARRIED ONE HALF AS MANY YEARS AS HIS AGE

James Madison, manager of the Associated Reels Company, had a birthday yesterday, but was so modest about it that it was only through employees in his office that the news leaked out. He refused absolutely to make public his age, but did say that he had been married just half as many years as he is old.

"Now you can guess my age," he said.

GRANT A. ADAMS IS ACCUSED OF ASSAULT

Shooting of Fred Petersen for Prowler to End In Prosecution

Grant Adams, a brick contractor, was charged yesterday with a deadly weapon offense as the result of the shooting September 20 of Fred Petersen, alleged "Peeping Tom." The warrant was issued in Police Judge Briggs' court and turned over to the police for service.

Adams was hunting yesterday and was served with the warrant upon his return. Madison places great faith in Petersen, whom he has known for years, and says the man has a good reputation and is not a night prowler.

Late one Saturday evening last month Adams was aroused from his bed by two school teachers, who have a room on the lower floor of the dwelling. They reported that a man was prowling about the house and that the neighbor next door had said the man was peeping in the windows. Adams secured a shot gun and went to the front porch.

He saw a man crouching in the dark in his yard. He ordered him to halt, but the man ran. Adams fired and the man who proved to be Petersen, dropped in the street. Petersen says he was not in the yard.

"TRUE SPORT" DEFINED IN MEETING OF F. H. S. STUDENTS' LEAGUE ARENA CLUB OF Y. M. C. A. WILL ORGANIZE TONIGHT

That the true sport in the field is the man who will put himself into the game with an earnestness, scoring, trying, and doing his utmost, and the true sport in the bleachers is the man who is loyal to his own team members but will not let their opponents, applauding good plays impartially, was the definition given by Rev. Shirley R. Shaw, associate pastor of the First Christian church, in the meeting of the boys of the High School Students' league at the Y. M. C. A. last evening.

Sportsmanship in the business world was also defined by Mr. Shaw, who was chosen to lead the league through the winter months. "A man who is big enough to give the other fellow credit for what he does and then go him one better, is the man who succeeds in business life," said the pastor.

John Vincens was chosen president of the league in the election held last evening, succeeding Alvin Bartlett, who presided last year. Other officers elected were: Malcolm Crawford, vice-president; Mark Kellogg, secretary; and Chester Bartlett, treasurer.

Following the election, Mr. Shaw considered the topic of the evening, "True Sport." The game a man plays and how he plays it marks the character of his sportsmanship, began Mr. Shaw, continuing to describe the type of men that play the game, that play for the sake of the game, that play for the sake of the team, that play for the sake of the honor, comparing them to the men who lead Christian lives.

A timely reference was made to the cowardice of the men on the Volturno, as compared with the magnificent bravery of the men who manned the Titanic, pointing out the latter to be true sportsmanship in its highest sense. Particularly the sportsmanship which was related dealt with every-day affairs which the high school boys would have to meet.

It being the first meeting of the year, the young men were reluctant about taking part in the discussion called for following Mr. Shaw's talk but this reluctance was not long last in the following meetings which are to follow this year. Twenty-five boys from F. H. S. met last night.

Previous to the meeting of the Students' league, the P. K. Bible class met under the leadership of Judge H. Z. Austin and elected the following officers: Irving White, president; Ernest Collins, vice-president; Vincent secretary; and Frank Maynor, treasurer.

The nominating committee for the board of directors of the Young Men's Christian association for the present year, which will make its report at the annual banquet to be held at the association building on November 6, is composed of the following: Miles Humphreys, Robert Ellithorpe, A. G. Wahlgren, Kenneth Wakefield, and F. L. Irwin.

The board of directors' committee in charge of the annual meeting is composed of E. W. Lindsay, Carl Lindsay and J. M. Crawford.

A new organization termed the Arena Club will be formed at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow evening, the young men meeting at 8:30 for a dinner and adjourning at 7 o'clock for organization.

This club is formed for the purpose of informal democratic discussion one evening a week with the firm conviction that the only solution of the problems of young men's lives which are involved in the questions, considered can be found in the rational application of Jesus' life principles literally.

SEASON OPENS FOR DUCK AND QUAIL

Federal Law Closes Shooting Period for Ducks February 1

With the opening of the duck and quail season at sunset this morning, several hundred sportsmen will have Fresno for a day's shooting. Plans for the opening day sport were completed yesterday and the club members are now on the grounds ready for the hunt. Owing to the federal regulation of game, laws governing the season this year are very different from those of former years.

Ducks are limited to twenty-five in one day and fifty during one week. Quail is limited to twenty each day. Fifty members of local gun clubs left yesterday afternoon for the preserves to prepare for the opening of the season. Food has been taken to the duck ponds in large quantities as ducks are scarce on this account. A shortage of water has also forced the duck farther north. On the preserves irrigation ditches have been utilized to replenish the Temple Gun Club preserve at Firebaugh and the Basin City Gun Club property at Okulla have been artificially watered and supplied with duck food for the past few weeks. In this matter, shooting has been improved markedly.

Shooting on all grounds, except the gun club property, will be short this year, according to the statement of A. D. Ferguson, Fish and Game Commissioner, yesterday. Quail are reported to be quite plentiful in the foothill districts and on grain stubble.

To Put On Flesh
And Increase Weight

A Physician's Advice

Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of food daily, but still do not increase in weight one ounce, while on the other hand many of the plump, chunky fellows eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It has been said that this is the nature of the individual. It isn't Nature's way at all. Thin folks say this because their powers of assimilation are defective. They just absorb enough of the food they eat to maintain life, and a semblance of health and strength. Stuffing won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't make them plump. A single "fat-making" food will multiply their red blood corpuscles and increase their blood's carrying power. For such a condition I advise recommending eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is not, as some believe, a patented food. It is a scientific combination

COMEDY PLENTIFUL IN EMPIRE BILL

Rose and Cunningham, beaming over with comedy at Empire.

The new bill, that opens tonight is a particularly good one, with plenty of comedy mixed through it to make it enjoyable in every way.

One of the most enjoyable features of the new bill is Don & Cunningham. Arthur Don is one of the funniest comedians that ever toured in vaudeville. He is a versatile sort of a fellow and has a dozen varieties of comedy at his disposal at all times. Don & Cunningham have been here before and have made themselves the big hit in every bill. This time they have something new to offer and they are making a good impression everywhere they go. The singing of this couple is good.

Whistling and singing is the offering of Fitzgerald & Lorenz. This is an exceptionally good act, for the singing of this couple is excellent, while their whistling is a feature. They will like birds and perform a number of other whistling feats that are unique. Lillie Griffin and the Princess Neta are an equally interesting pair featuring a Western act that is quite outside of the ordinary.

Scientific shooting with rifles is a stunt that they perform with remarkable skill. They are accompanied in characteristic costumes and have an

CHILDREN'S HAIR

Keep it Clean and Free from Dandruff by Using Parisian Sage.

If you want your children to grow up with strong, beautiful and vigorous hair, teach them to use Parisian Sage, which can be had at any drug or toilet counter. It is one of the best, most pleasant and invigorating hair tonics on the market.

Parisian Sage cleanses the hair and scalp from dust and excessive oil. Quickly removes dandruff, stops itching scalp and falling hair. Hair that is thinning out, faded, matted or falling out, immediately becomes shiny, lustrous and radiant with life.

Get a large 50 cent bottle from San Joaquin Drug Co. They will refund your money if you are not satisfied. Parisian Sage is equally good for "grown-ups" and children. Every one needs it.

ALICE NEILSEN COMING IN CONCERT SATURDAY EVENING

Is Artist of Brilliant Career
In Grand Opera
Circles

Miss Alice Neilson, singing in concert tonight at the Saturday evening, October 15. Miss Neilson has had a varied career in her jump from light to grand opera, and has always been considered a real American girl, without the so-called eccentricities of genius that so many of the foreign artists like to indulge. But Miss Neilson does love her Italy and it is always hard to get her to return in the fall for an early season.

The demand on her time has been so great this year that her tour was opened unusually early. Before leaving London she told Manager Wagner that she would sail September 18th. Wagner arranged her tour to open October 1, and in true prima donna style Miss Neilson changed her sailing to September 30, without warning him. The manager cabled she would have to be here by September 25, her reply was typical: "What shall I do?" Wagner's reply was: "Swim!" And they do say that what Miss Neilson wanted to send back to America was refused by the cable authorities. But she arrived on time. The manager knew she was an American girl and would arrive.

The best seat for Miss Neilson's concert will open tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

M'KAY PREPARES TO RUN BOUNDARY SURVEY

Southern Line Will Be Easy
One to Locate for Kingsburg

Northern One Is Puzzler—
Cast Iron Obelisks for Monuments

County Surveyor McKay has been going back to the days of 1856 to learn "where he is at" in connection with the projected survey of the southern and northern boundary lines of Fresno County.

Surveyor Byron O. Lovelace is coming at his headquarters for the first time to consult as to the details and also when to commence the joint survey of the disputed boundary line between Fresno and Tulare counties, primarily to determine whether Kingsburg is wholly within Fresno or partly in that county and in Tulare. This part of the survey will be made at once. The larger portion of the projected survey to include the diagonal line marking off Kings county is a matter for later consideration dependent upon whether Kings will join a tri-county survey.

In preparation for the survey conference, Surveyor McKay looked up data yesterday and while he rejected to find that the Fresno-Tulare-Kings survey will be a comparatively easy task, he also discovered that he will have a puzzle to solve when marking the northern boundary line with Merced. There has been talk about running this survey when the supervisors resolved to have the southern boundary line made to quiet the Kingsburg town authorities as regards certain projected street improvements, as they do not know where the line is, the town and county boundary being supposed to be one and the same, but the claim being made that the county line is anywhere between twelve and fifteen feet within or beyond the town limits inside or outside of the corporation, and it outside then partly in Tulare county.

Surveyor McKay unearthed in the county law library a copy of the "Statutes of California, 1856," containing the act of April 12, 1856, for the organization of "Fresno" out of Mariposa, Tulare and Merced counties and defining its boundaries. The surveyor says he found for the northern boundary line description what he described as "beginning at a point where the Stockton road to Millerton crosses the Chowchilla known as Newton's Crossing, thence down said stream on the north side with the high water mark to the sink of the same at the lower end of cottonwood, thence, thence, south, 35 degrees west to the south boundary of Merced county etc."

"That's what I call a peach," remarked Surveyor McKay. "How am I going, in 1913, to find as a starting for a survey the point in 1856 where the Stockton-Millerton road crossed the Chowchilla? I may or may not succeed. There may be today no trace of Newton's Crossing, and what evidence would there be today of the high water mark of fifty-seven years ago in a stream such as the Chowchilla? I stuck at the word mott, and I had to look it up in the dictionary to find that it means the act or process of casting on and developing new meaning probably where the lower new growth of cottonwood replaced the cast off or old growth. A beautiful chance for me to locate now the lower mott or new growth as it existed fifty-seven years ago."

The southern boundary line is a comparatively easy matter, for the act of 1856 gives me a well-defined starting in commencing at a point in the center line of Kings river where the same is intersected by the north boundary line of township 16 N., Range 23 E., running south 45 degrees west to Monterey county. It will be easy enough to locate the center of the river by several means. The intersecting point is the northeast corner of section 4, 16-23, about one mile from Reedley. The joint survey south for nine to ten miles with Tulare to locate the line as regards Kingsburg is simple.

Taking a starting point and the angle of deviation it will not be necessary to survey on the ground the long diagonal boundary line with Kings county to the east of the Coast Range. It will be then just a prolongation of the deviated line indefinitely without having to locate the fixed point at the center end of the line. That prolonged straight diagonal line is the boundary with Kings with the exception of about a sixth of a mile zigzag survey cover-

TITANIC DISASTER REPRODUCED ON STAGE

Margaret Isles and associate players in "The Soul Savers"—Princess tonight.

San Francisco, Oct. 13, 1913.

Manager Smith, Princess Theater.

The "Titanic" which opens at your house Wednesday is positively the greatest feature ever seen on a vaudeville stage.

SAM HARRIS.

The above telegram, which refers to More's reproduction of the Titanic disaster which will be the feature of the new program at the Princess theater tonight, is a positive guarantee. The apparatus necessary to present the act takes up the entire stage and 2,000 mechanical ships, figures and other objects are used in a realistic presentation of the great marine disaster. Several scenes are required for the complete production. The construction of the apparatus is the last word in mechanical detail and precision.

Another headliner secured for the new show this evening will be Margaret Isles, the well known coast actress and company in "The Soul Savers". Included in the cast are such well known dramatic players as Leon Howard and J. S. Thompson. The plot is deeply absorbing and the scene is laid in a resort house. The theme deals with one of the most important topics of the day.

Among the other acts will be Henry Rice, "That Funny Little German" in "A Touch of Dutch", Goudine, Impolster and dancer, and Hendrickson & Lewis, vocalists.

Of great interest to children will be the announcement of the Princess management that beginning Saturday children will be admitted free to Saturday matinees when accompanied by parents or other adult persons. Every care and attention will be given the little ones and special efforts will be made to please them.

The management also announces that within the near future matinees will be given every afternoon. It is believed that the rapid increase in the population of the city will warrant daily matinees.

58 MEN WORKING ON RECLAMATION PROJECT

Trench Diggers Uncover
Hardpan and Soil Very Much Saturated

Contractor J. E. Mitchell had forty-eight men working on the job yesterday digging trenches to prepare the quarter section of land of the Kearney estate on the Whitesbridge road preparatory to reclaiming it from alkali by leaching and drainage. Contractor Mitchell says that at a depth of eleven feet from the main central drain to the corner sumphole a layer of hardpan six feet in width was encountered, also that the returned soil was found to be saturated with moisture. The hardpan strata are in irregular layers at various angles and depths. The sample hole in the quarter section corner will be 15 feet in depth and have an interior width of six feet. The hole to have a concrete bottom and sides. The public interest in the reclamation project is manifested by the curiously inclined who attend to watch the progress of the work.

DEWEY OF SANGER IS SUED FOR LIBEL

City Marshal's Gum-Shoe
Detective Asks for $5,000 Damages

Summons was served yesterday on E. P. Dewey of the Sanger Herald in an action by D. Purio for $5,000 damages on account of a publication of October 2, said to be libelous. Purio is an evidence as to violations of the town ordinance against the sale of intoxicants and on September 20 gave testimony in two of the cases against William Glenn, residing before Recorder Walton. The Herald making mention of the court proceedings referred to C. D. Purio's testimony as contradictory and to him as a personage recently said to have been out of Fresno, after being captured in a rambled run of "some kind in the Chinese quarter." Purio asserts that the statement concerning him is false.

BIG INDIAN SIGNS CONTRACT FOR LIFE

James Thorpe Married to Margaret Miller At Carlisle

CARLISLE, Pa., Oct. 14.—James Thorpe, world's greatest athlete and a member of the New York National league baseball team, was married today in historic St. Patrick's church to Margaret M. Miller, a student at the Carlisle Indian school, which Thorpe attended. The wedding was the outcome of a romance that had its inception when Thorpe met Miss Miller after a football game he had won by field goals.

The bridegroom was attended by Captain Gus Welch of the Indian football team and the bridemaid, who was Miss Margaret Chisholm of Oklahoma. The ushers were students at the Indian school.

Mr. and Mrs. Thorpe leave tonight for New York to join the New York Giants on their tour of the world.

JOHNSTON OF SEALS EQUALS STANDING RECORD FOR THEFTS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—By stealing his 11th base for the season in today's game between San Francisco and Oakland, Centerfielder James Johnston of the San Francisco team equaled in point of number the season's record established by Hal Myers of the Spokane team of the Northwestern league last year.

While sporting writers are disposed to give Johnston full credit for his remarkable performance, they nevertheless point out that he has fallen far short of Myers on a percentage basis. The Northwestern league base-stealing wizard participated in only 169 games last year.

Johnston has already played in 181 games. Thus the average for the Northwestern player is considerably higher per game than that of the San Franciscan.

ZACKER'S HOMER WINS FOR OAKS

Stiff Wallop In Tenth Inning Breaks Up 3 to 3 Tie; Score 4 to 3

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—Elmer Zacker's home run over the right field fence in the tenth inning today broke up a 3 to 3 tie and won from San Francisco by 4 to 3. In the last half of the seventh Oakland led the score by scoring twice. Jimmy Johnston, San Francisco's speedy center fielder stole his 11th base today.

ANGELS AND VENICE DEFY PRESIDENT BAUM

Ball Players Declare They Will Play Postseason Series Despite Order

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 14.—Defiance of the recent order of President Allen T. Baum of the Coast league, that no post season games among the clubs of the league be allowed, was voiced here today when members of the Los Angeles club, speaking for themselves and in behalf of the Venice players, declared a post season series would be played here regardless of the order.

The players contend that league officials have no control over them after the close of the season and as the playing season has been officially sanctioned by the club owners, the players contend that President Baum and the league directors will have no recourse.

VALLEY TOWNS MAY FORM WINTER LEAGUE

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 14.—With the return of G. E. McCull, who has been playing first base this season with the Spokane Northwestern league team, and the gathering of other local players who have finished their work for the present season, there has been a deal of discussion with regard to the formation of a winter league to include towns of the San Joaquin valley.

News has been received here that winter teams are in the course of formation at Lamont, Coalinga, Bardsfield and possibly Tulare, and it is believed that it is not too early for Porterville to get into the running.

Some preliminary organization work has been done, and it is almost certain that financial support necessary for such a team can be secured with little difficulty.

DINUBA PUTS ROLLERS UNDER KINGSBURG NINE

DINUBA, Oct. 14.—The Dinuba Merchants took the Kingsburg speed boys into camp Sunday for the second straight game of the five-game series, by a score of 6 to 1. The game was full of interest. Mike Cann, pitcher for Dinuba, allowed only five scratch hits and retired fifteen men by the strike-out route, while Cowan of Kingsburg was slammed hard, and Del Traeger, who relieved him, was found still staler.

If Dinuba wins next Sunday it will mean the series.

J. Leslie Bush, Freshmen in Major League Ball, Hero of World Series

J. Leslie Bush

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—"The hero of the 1913 world's series," they are calling J. Leslie Bush, the youthful pitcher from Brainerd, Minn., who in the third game of the big series bumbled the mighty Giants. And it was Bush who pitched the hero of the series, Philadelphia, from the first to the last.

Bush was going to school at Brainerd. Even in these days, it is recalled, he was some ball player and those who watched him on the sand lots suggested that he might some day follow Bender's example and make a name for himself in the big league.

ever made by a recruit in the big leagues. His pitcher's record for the season was 6-50.

It was at Brainerd, Minn., some twenty-nine years ago that Charlie Albert Bender first saw the light of day. About nine years later Joe Bush opened his eyes for the first time and looked on the same town.

When Chief Bender was helping the Athletics to down the rival American league clubs ten years ago, Bush was going to school at Brainerd. Even in these days, it is recalled, he was some ball player and those who watched him on the sand lots suggested that he might some day follow Bender's example and make a name for himself in the big league.

Rush said he reckoned he'd keep Brainerd on the baseball map.

He certainly has. First he went to Missoula, Mont., and it was there he made the record which induced Connie Mack to secure him for the Athletics. Probably Bush is today the best pitcher on the Mack team.

If there is anything in the pitching line that Bush hasn't, the critics have overlooked it. He has speed, curves, a slow ball and control. He also has brains and nerve in the great game with the Giants, he never faltered, he never stumbled. He pitched a world's series game with the same indifference as he would toss to the hitters. He won with out strain or effort.

HAWAIIANS ARRIVE TO ENTER PORTOLA MEET

Champion Swimmer of World to Take Part In the Aquatic Events

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—Duke Kahanamoku and a team of seven swimmers from the Hawaiian Islands arrived here today from Honolulu to compete in the Portola swimming races. The team is composed of six sprinters and two distance men.

Kahanamoku learned on arrival that he had been named as co-representative in a dispute suit filed by Noel Deery, technologist, for the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association. He denied that he had given any grounds for the suit, and said that his relations with Mrs. Deery had been purely those of a swimming instructor toward a pupil.

The Olympic and world's champion has no intention of establishing a swimming school in California, as has been reported. "The people of the islands have been very generous to me," he said. "They gave me a handsome house, when I got back from Stockholm, and I have no intention of deserting my home."

BRANT RETURNS TO SPEND WINTER

Fresno Player Finishes Good Season With St. Paul Signs With Boston

Greater Brant, who has been caravanning on foreign baseball diamonds, in the capacity of substitute during the 1913 season, returned to his home in this city last night. Brant came directly from St. Paul, where he finished the season in the American Association and a very successful year. Brant is under contract to the Boston Red Sox and will report to Manager Carrigan at the opening of the 1914 spring training season.

Last March, Brant reported to Stahl at the spring training camp and during the training trip won every game he pitched. When the American league season opened, Stahl decided that Brant had not had sufficient experience and therefore sent him to Toronto, in the International league.

Owing to the cold weather, it was several weeks before Brant worked into condition, but after the first few games struck a strong stride which eventually pulled him out of the hole. During one game in Toronto, Brant walked ten men but finally came out ahead.

Later he was sent to the St. Paul club of the American Association and pitched good ball until the end of the season. Brant did not pitch a regular game for the Reds. Brant states that Carrigan has lined up a likely looking bunch for 1914 and should put up a strong battle for the pennant.

BLUE ROCK SHOOT AT PORTERVILLE OCT. 25

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 14.—Members of the Porterville gun club have made tentative arrangements for holding a county shoot here, as one of the features of the Fall Fests, a fund of $100 having been raised for the purchase of a suitable trophy.

Shots will be held between recognized clubs of this county, as well as several individual matches. It is possible that an open match and a county handicap will be features as well.

Arrangements for the shoot are being made by a committee which includes C. W. Buwalde, Zante orchard, near George Small, orchard owner of Deer Creek, and Mike S. Ough, Main street merchant.

Exhibition Baseball

AMERICANS 4; NATIONALS 1

PITTSBURG, Oct. 14.—The Cleveland Americans won today the seventh and deciding game of the inter-city series, defeating the Pittsburgh Nationals by 4 to 1. The official attendance was 2,063 and receipts $2,155.26.

Adams was batted for six hits in three innings, but McQuillan, who replaced him, did not allow a hit. Three hits gave Pittsburgh its only run in the second inning. Cleveland scored twice in the first inning. Cleveland made another run in the fourth, when Wilson muffed Chapman's fly and Chapman scored on singles by L. J. Loe and Johnston. Score:

CAN'T PLAY RUGBY, SAYS NEW ZEALANDER

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 14.—"You don't know how to play the game," this statement was made today by J. J. Quinn, representing the All Star New Zealand rugby team, which arrived on the Stanford campus this afternoon, summarizing the all-backs' idea of the brand of rugby so far encountered in America.

The New Zealander criticized the American style of forward play in particular, centering his attack on the scrum play in the New Zealand-California game last week. He expressed himself as disappointed with the rough tactics and the spirit of the American players.

When the All Stars, numbering 23 players, arrived today for a visit of nine days, they were met at the depot by nearly 1,000 cheering students headed by the University band. They were housed with the different fraternities. Stanford will line up against the visitors on Wednesday and Saturday.

PORTERVILLE RUGGERS NOT IN GOOD SHAPE

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 14.—Defeat of Tulare by Lindsay at Rugby Saturday with a score of 5-0 probably indicates that the Tulare team are not more ready to be considered C. C. A. A. league winners, without considerable amount of form; but at the same time the game between Porterville and Exeter in which the local high succeeded in taking the contest by a mere 11 to 0 indicates that Porterville is not a strong team—yet at any rate.

Porterville high has shown the same defensive game that has distinguished the teams for the past three years and teams thus far played have made absolutely no ground. On the offensive, however, there is an entire lack of that aggressiveness which made the team last year one of the best in this state.

Saturday, the 25th, Porterville plays Bakersfield for the first game of the C. C. A. A. league season. Bakersfield is coming with a special train of rooters and filled with confidence. Porterville Ruggers are not more ready to face with gloom for the championship form is not in sight as yet.

REDS DEFEAT BLUES

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—Box checks were distributed here today by John E. Bruce, secretary of the National Baseball commission, to the officials and players of the Philadelphia American league ball club, as their share of the world's series money. The club received a check of $69,334.75, of which $10,000 had been put up as a forfeit to comply with the rules of the series. This was the net amount after 25 per cent. had been deducted from the club's total which will be turned over to President Johnson of the American League for distribution to the other seven American League clubs. Each of the twenty-five players eligible to compete in the series, received $3243.94.

SENATORS AFTER SECOND POSITION

Stark Clouts Triple In Second, Scoring Two Men; Score 9 to 6

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 14.—The Sacramento Wolves climbed within half a game of Venice in the fight for second place by winning the opening game today, 9 to 6. The Tigers took a two run lead in the first frame, but the Wolves went out in front, never to be headed, in the second. After Koester had walked two men in the second, Stark, utility infielder, was next at bat.

Fatsy O'Rourke, formerly with Sacramento, gave the Venice pitcher a few words of advice and Stark picked out the first ball pitched for a triple to deep left, scoring the two runners. After that Koester was not effective. He gave way to Klepper after three runs had scored in the next frame, and Klepper in turn failed to last more than two innings. Score:

WILL FILE BRIEFS IN HANFORD BONDS SUIT

Appellate Court to Pass On Validity of Sewer Bond Election

HANFORD, Oct. 14.—Speaking of the probable outcome of the pending question before the Appellate Court as to the validity of the sewer bond election held here a year ago, City Attorney F. E. Kilpatrick stated that the briefs of points and authorities, and the respondent's brief of points and authorities will be filed with the Appellate Court in a few days and that he hoped that a decision can be reached in the early spring. In that event, if the decision is in favor of the bonds, the city will have to pay the $50,000 sewer system and disposal works will be done next summer. There is every reason to believe that it will be favorable, as the decision upon a point identical with one decided by the Appellate Court some months ago. To reverse itself would be unusual on the part of the judges of that or any other court.

BURGLARS AT TAFT ROB MEAT MARKET

TAFT, Oct. 14.—The cash register of the Pioneer Meat Market, taken from the building last night and robbed of about $200. It was found this morning in the lot at the rear of the place covered with a heavy piece of canvas. The thief entered the building through the west door. By cutting the screen he was able to lift the cash register. The other door was not closed. The thief carried the cash register to the rear of the building and there rifled it. The tarpaulin may have been used to deaden the sound of the bell as the drawer opened, or possibly the thief thought to hide the evidence until he could use a secure getaway. As yet the officers have no clue which might lead to his discovery.

When we tell you that Vinol is the best remedy in our whole stock for making weak, puny, ailing children strong, robust and rosy we are only telling you what has been proved by hundreds of mothers.

J. L. Fickling, Macon, Ga., says: "My child was very thin and delicate, no appetite, nervous and did not sleep well. Doctors did not help her. Vinol was recommended and the change after a fair trial was wonderful. She sleeps soundly all night, has a splendid appetite and has gained in weight. I wish every mother knew what Vinol will do for delicate children."

What Vinol did for this little girl it will do for every weak and ailing child because sickly children need the strengthening cod liver elements and the tonic from that Vinol contains—that is why it builds them up quickly and gives them a fine healthy color. It is pleasant to take and we guarantee that the results will satisfy you—money back if they do not. "Woman Drug Co., Fresno, Cal."

Chinese Couple Wed At Taft Under State Law Recently Passed

TAFT, Oct. 14.—The first marriage of Chinese under the rules of California law was contracted Saturday afternoon in Judge O'Boyle's court. The parties were Sam See, native of Calaveras county, resident of Taft, and 25 years old, and Ada W. Que, native of New York, resident of Taft, and 22 years old. Judge Sam Birchard and Constable Sam Ferguson were the witnesses.

The couple have been married several weeks, having been wedded according to Chinese custom. A few days ago the groom appeared before Judge O'Boyle and asked his advice as to whether he should be married again. The judge told him to do so, and instructed him in the process of securing the license. He also gave him a note of introduction to County Clerk Miller, and asked him to send the young couple back to Taft to be married, that he might have the distinction of performing the first such ceremony between Chinese. Mr. Miller did so.

The bride appeared very lovely as she stepped into the judge's court for the ceremony. She was dressed in full Chinese costume of pure white, except for a few ornaments in her hair dress. The groom was less ceremonially attired in a suit consisting of a panama coat and semi-peg trousers.

When the lady expressed a mild disapproval of kissing, the judge explained that it was not a part of the ceremony, and allowed her to depart. They both seemed much pleased at the thing was all over and done to the approval of the white man.

HANFORD TO PAVE PRINCIPAL STREET

Council Passes Resolution of Intention for Sixth Street; Amend Traffic Ordinance

HANFORD, Oct. 14.—The board of city trustees tonight passed resolutions of intention for paving Sixth street from Harris street east to the city limits, and Irwin street west to the city limits, which will give the city the first full cross-town pavement. The work will start in December and be done under the municipal improvement act that brings the burden of payment upon the property owners. The pavement will be a mixture of oil and gravel resembling closely the asphalt pavement.

The board also amended the general police ordinance fixing the minimum fine for appearing on the streets in an intoxicated condition. The minimum for a varied lot of wrongdoings under the old ordinance ranged at $5 and the present ordinance has always been until recently to impose the minimum in cases of intoxication. The present "dry" board to aid in the handling of the liquor blind-pigging has recently instructed its city recorder to make the fine $20, but this place the board now has no alternative in extenuating circumstances, hence the board tonight fixed the minimum by an amendment and the fine will hereafter be $20. The recorder must impose that fine and he is not to blame if it is rough on those who come before him.

BOY MILLIONAIRE WINS TITLE TO BIG ESTATE

Consists of 1480 Acres of Tulare Land Valued at Quarter of Million

VISALIA, Oct. 14.—An opinion was handed down by Judge Wallace today in which it is decreed that Donald J. McInnis, known in the lumber world as the "boy millionaire," is entitled to the estate of his father and another, who died in Michigan in 1907. Two sets of petitions for letters were filed August 1, one by Public Administrator L. C. Lacey and one by Donald G. McRae, who claimed to be a resident of this state.

The estate in question consists of 1480 acres of valuable timber land in Redwood canyon at the headwaters of the Kaweah river, and is valued as high as three quarters of a million dollars. This vast estate has lain dormant since the death of McRae's parents, and it was this fact which led the public administrator to file his petition. The settlement of the contest hinged on the point as to whether McInnis was a bona fide resident of the state on Aug. 12. The court held that he was and that even if it were shown that he came here for the express purpose of qualifying himself as administrator, it would make no difference.
